

God Will Save ALL

Whoops! Hell is in the Apostles Tradition but not in the Bible. This is the problem of Sola Scriptura. This document was written before I knew the Tradition. It is a good example of the problem of Sola Scriptura, a belief that the Bible is everything we need, and the reason for thousands of denominations. The purpose of this document is to define salvation. I know this can be a controversial subject. And, I also know why. It has to do with the accounting for God's story, and an effort to make it line up with other religions. The problem with that is God is great. His is not at all like other religions. Like the Bible says, he gets his way. We all end up loving him, and loving him his way. He is different because of a thing called truth.

Truth

I am an accountant. An accountant is one who collects history. To have history, one must first set up accounts. The Bible does this. It is why the most important spiritual gift is prophecy. Prophecy sets up accounts. It is why we have a thing called truth. Truth is based on the accounts God has set up. For example: God has designed accounts into each of our hearts; plus, prophecies in the Bible are accounts to be filled with history; and, our cross or calling is a specific set of accounts he sets up with us and refreshes daily. All these accounts are true, and history proves them true. Accounts are just buckets used to collect history, but as a set they also represent a strategic view of a business model. They represent the relationships between things and therefore the relative importance of things as they define the business and develop the story.

My Truth, My Calling

Because I had fun doing it, my calling has led me to read the Bible from cover to cover many times. I have also made models of the Bible using the same techniques used to model individual businesses. In doing that, I have modeled the lives of all the saints of the church; at least all I could find described on the internet. This list of saints includes all the people described in the Bible and all the people associated with the deeds of the Lord in Christian history since that time. By the way, if I missed any. I would love to add them to my model. Therefore, it is a model of the "Deeds of the Lord", the same deeds we are commanded to teach our children. Plus, my Bible model associates these lives with the lives of the rulers of their time. Therefore, my saint's history model is World History, including all the wars. When you see the wars from those stories, you will see the World and its battle against God. So, like my other business models, this model is His business and His story.

Biblical Truth, Gods Story, History

As an accountant, one who sets up accounts, audits accounts, and records history, I look to the accounts set up in the Bible to see the big picture of God's story. This is easy to do, since Genesis has them all. In other words, Genesis begins to define the important accounts and their relationships that the rest of the story will complete, including the time after the Bible. Auditing is simply reading, like reading an account.

No Account, No Prophecy, No Truth

In doing my Bible auditing, I noticed something strange. There were no accounts set up for Hell in my model. Information throughout the books of the Bible fills the Genesis accounts, but the only place Hell is defined is in the Gospels, and not very well I might add. Most of what we know of Hell comes outside the Bible from Thomas Aquinas in 1274 and Dante Alighieri in 1320. On my further examination, although mentioned by Tertullian around the year 220, I discovered that Hell did not show up in Christian History until St. Jerome's Latin translation of the New Testament in the year 382, the Vulgate. So, he and his contemporary St. Augustine of Hippo innocently brought the pagan idea of hell into the Church in their attempt to make it line up with other religions. One way they did this by translating the word for soul more than ten different ways. Before that time, the soul represented the whole person, not the pagan idea of body and soul. They also brought in the pagan concept of eternity. The need for the word eternity comes from the need for describing eternal damnation, also a pagan idea not found in the Old Testament or in the Epistles. They did it with only a few mistranslations of individual words like the Greek words for soul and eternity.

Here is a list of some of the verses that indicate God Will Save All:

Genesis 12:3	Luke 9:55-56	1 Corinthians 15:22-28
2 Samuel 14:14	Luke 23:34	2 Cor. 5:18-19
Psalm 22:27-29	John 12:32	Ephes. 4:5-6
Psalm 65:2	John 12:47	Colossians 1:15-20
Psalm 86:9	John 17:2	Colossians 3:11
Isaiah 25:6-8	Acts 3:20-21	1 Timothy 2:5-6
Isaiah 45: 22-23	Romans 5:6, 18-20	Hebrews 8:11-12
Lamentations 3:31-32	Romans 11:32-36	James 2:13
Hosea 14:4	Romans 14:11	1 John 2:2
Zephaniah 3:8-9	1 Corinthians 3:11-15	Revelation 5:13
Luke 2:10	1 Corinthians 13:8	Revelation 15:4

And, there are many more.

As I read the Bible from cover to cover for over 20 years and for 2 or more times through each year, God kept putting on my heart that it was important for me to know what is in the Bible. I also was led to read the Bible and force it to line up with Genesis. I believe this method to be the only way to read any good book that starts out by defining relationships. Now that we know truth, what is in the Bible prophetically, what is not, no eternal damnation, what do we do? Whether a hell or not, does it change what we do?

Either way, we do our calling

What is important in this age is finding and living our individual callings. Doing that requires: daily sacrifice of the heart, sharing our heart daily, allowing him have what we think is most important, what we think is who we are in anticipation of seeing his view of who we are in the form of a change of heart. This is a strategic two way communication with God. He can only change our heart when we first examine it and give it to him. We were designed to do what is on our heart.

And, pray for the general gifts

Our callings are specific. Also of importance in this age is for us to pray daily for the general spiritual gifts so we can be useful to God for other purposes as we go about our way. These general spiritual gifts come to all by prayer. Armed with these gifts, God can use us by putting people across our path and through us give them what they need from him. This is a tactical two way communication with God. The gifts to pray for are: healing by the laying on of hands, gifts of knowledge, wisdom, discernment, tongues, interpretation of tongues, clairvoyance, miracles, prophetic gift (most important), and deliverance. So, all we have to do is sacrifice our heart and pray to be useful. God takes care of the rest.
